

Leading Mobile Retailer, eXpansys.com, to Sell Genum nXZEN™ Bluetooth® Headset Across Global Network

30 Years of Experience in Advanced Audio Circuitry Gives Genum Noise-Reduction Headset Unmatched Sound Quality

Burlington, ON – November 18, 2005 – Genum Corporation (TSX: GND), a leading provider of technology for personal audio products, today announced that eXpansys, Europe and North America's largest specialist distributor of mobile technology, will sell the nXZEN™ PLUS Bluetooth® headset throughout their international network of websites and catalogues.

eXpansys, which operates in the U.K., U.S., Europe and Asia, and reaches customers in over 140 countries, is a subsidiary of Mobile and Wireless Group (MWG). MWG also operates the Mobile Planet and Portix brands, which together form the largest independent company selling mobile computing and communications products in Europe and the USA.

“The nXZEN™ Bluetooth® headset's advanced noise-reduction technology and compatibility with a wide range of Bluetooth-enabled mobile devices make it an outstanding addition to our mobile accessory portfolio,” said Ian Harrison, Marketing Manager, Mobile & Wireless Group, eXpansys.

The nXZEN™ PLUS offers callers the most advanced noise reduction available in a Bluetooth headset, in a unit weighing slightly over half an ounce and measuring 1 by 2.3 inches. Users can also attach the nXZEN™ PLUS to their MP3 or CD players for stereo listening and one-touch call answering. For more information on the nXZEN™, visit www.nxzen.com.

“eXpansys is known for offering superior products to their customers,” said Ian McNaughton, Director, Consumer Marketing, Audio & Wireless Division, Genum. “We are extremely pleased to work with them to provide the nXZEN™ throughout their global network.”
